

RTPI

mediation of space · making of place

Future Planners Bursary

Supporting the Future of the Profession

The RTPI Future Planners Bursary was established in 2015 to promote planning and increase the pipeline of planners in the UK. Each bursary of £1,000 is allocated by the participating universities to high performing applicants so your contribution is supporting the best and brightest who can demonstrate a commitment to the planning profession and interest in working in the UK.

FINALIST
Best Advancement of a Cause

A finalist for the Association Excellence Awards in the 'Best Advancement of a Cause' category, the scheme promotes postgraduate courses offered at accredited planning schools.

“I couldn't have done it without the bursary, for which I'm very grateful. During interviews for jobs I would use the Future Planners Bursary as an example of a recent achievement”.

Sarah Temple, Oxford Brookes University

“The RTPI bursary scheme, backed by government funding, will continue drawing top graduates to further studies into planning with a view to then joining the profession.”

Brandon Lewis MP, former Housing and Planning Minister

“The future and continued effectiveness of our planning profession is the responsibility of all of us operating within it. Barton Willmore is delighted to support the RTPI's Bursary Scheme, to assist Master's students and raise awareness of the exciting opportunities in planning for students who have a range of undergraduate degrees.”

Mark Sitch, Senior Partner Barton Willmore

Sponsorship is a fantastic opportunity to show your support for the planners of the future and you will receive all the following benefits:

- Linking your brand to an industry-recognised bursary scheme.
- Profile-raising within the planning profession and beyond.
- Having your organisation linked to other organisations sponsoring the scheme.
- Access to the future 'talent' by putting your brand in front of the students you want to recruit.
- Supporting the profession by promoting the scheme.
- By funding a minimum of 2 bursaries you maximise the value of your contribution by part funding every bursary.
- Highlight the shortages of planners in the UK and promote planning as a positive career.
- Raise awareness of planning to non-planning students.
- Increase the number of UK-based graduates.

RTPI

mediation of space · making of place

Sponsorship Packages

Gold - £10,000

Benefits to you and your business:

- Complimentary tickets to the Planning Convention 2018.
- Inclusion on judging panel for any Bursary Excellence Award.
- Opportunity to engage with the bursary students through additional add-on activities (e.g. work experience, site visits etc).
- Inclusion in RTPI publicity and communications.
- Listing on the RTPI website.
- Opportunity to promote your organisation to some of the most talented graduates.
- Positive perception of your organisation supporting recruitment across the sector.

Silver - £5,000

Benefits to you and your business:

- Opportunity to engage with the bursary students through additional add-on activities (e.g. work experience, site visits etc).
- Inclusion in RTPI publicity and communications.
- Listing on the RTPI website.
- Opportunity to promote your organisation to some of the most talented graduates.
- Positive perception of your organisation supporting recruitment across the sector.

Bronze - £1,500

Benefits to you and your business:

- Listing on the RTPI website.
- Opportunity to promote your organisation to some of the most talented graduates.
- Positive perception of your organisation supporting recruitment across the sector.

How to sponsor the scheme

Sponsors who sign up to the Gold package can spread the sponsorship over two years, giving greater support to the scheme and promoting your organisation further.

Contact Judith Taylor, Higher Education Officer

Judith.Taylor@rtpi.org.uk

0207 929 9451

Sponsors have included:

ATKINS

BARTON
WILLMORE

