9.50AM Why Planning Now?

This introductory session will take planners back to their roots to explore exactly why they chose the profession. There will be an interactive session with delegates to identify why they chose a career in planning and we'll hear from the Young Planner of the Year on what planning means to them.

Speakers: Luke Coffey, Senior Planning Consultant, Mott MacDonald and RTPI Young Planner of the Year Winner 2017

Kim Cooper, Town Planner, Arup and Junior Vice Chair of the RTPI North West

10.00AM Plenary Session One - How are our cities failing us? The challenges and opportunities surrounding health and happiness

Our first plenary session will explore the key role planner's play in today's society and the important and often lesser-acknowledged, socio-economic impacts of our work. We'll identify some of the ways our cities are failing us and explore some opportunities and best practice examples of how we can improve our communities. Following the discussion we'll introduce the break activity where delegates will be asked to identify some forward-thinking, innovative ideas they have for addressing issues in our communities.

Speakers: Dr Pauleen Lane, Group Manager (National Infrastructure), Planning Inspectorate.

Sarah Longlands, Senior Research Fellow, IPPR North

The Very Revd. Rogers M Govender, Dean of Manchester

Chair: Jane Healey-Brown FRTPI, Associate Director, Arup

11.40AM Plenary Session Two - How can strategic planning help deliver healthy and happy people and places?

The health and well-being of our cities is to a great degree dependent on the quality and direction of government and policymakers at the very highest-level. Government strategies and interventions can have a strong influence on planning for sustainable and healthy cities. This session will provide a critique of the structures and processes within government and provokes questions about who is truly accountable for delivering the health agenda in the built environment.

Speakers: Sean Anstee, Leader, Trafford Council

James Shuttleworth, Planning and Infrastructure Manager, Manchester City Council

Chair: Matt Dixon, Town Planner, Zerum Planning

Crash Courses and Walking Study Tours - your choice of one crash course or tour

Crash Course One: Environmental Planning

Sponsored by:

This workshop will comprise a detailed review of environmental planning matters and consider how the environment can be protected and enhanced, whilst making the most of its development potential. The talk will also include practical details for promoting schemes and will explore how sites are appraised from an environmental perspective, from initial site appraisals, through to detailed site surveys.

Speakers: Dave Hodgkinson, Technical Director, Wardell Armstrong

Dr Steven Lees, Principal Environmental Scientist, Wardell Armstrong

Caroline Mellor, Associate Director, Wardell Armstrong

Suzanne Wykes, Associate Director, Wardell Armstrong

Crash Course Two: Compulsory Purchase Orders

The session will explore the use of Compulsory Purchase Orders (CPO's) and recent key planning decisions and legal reforms from a public and private sector perspective. It will also assess the use of CPO powers during the planning application process and look at current good practice in using these to effectively promote development.

Speakers: Greg Dickson MRTPI, Planning Director, Barton Willmore

Debbie Reynolds, Associate, TLT Solicitors

Crash Course Three: Planning Law in Context – City-Centre Regeneration Scheme - SOLD OUT!

Enhance your understanding of planning law through a real life situation focusing on two of Manchester's largest regeneration schemes in the city centre: 'Spinningfields' and 'St.John's'. These major brownfield regeneration schemes have expanded the city centre boundaries and kick-started growth in the city economy, whilst also overcoming a series of planning legal challenges.

Speakers: Sam Grange, Senior Associate, Shoosmiths

Daniel Murphy, Solicitor, Shoosmiths

Chris Reay, Spinningfields Estate Director, Allied London

Crash Course Four: APC

The RTPI will deliver its vital masterclass on the APC. This session will include an overview of the process, invaluable tips and guidance to capture your experience and how to apply to become a Chartered Member of the RTPI. Delegates who are preparing to submit their APC soon may find this session of particular interest.

Speaker: Jenny Tyler, Senior Membership Advisor, RTPI

Crash Course Five: Creating healthy places with green infrastructure

This session focuses on the techniques and challenges associated with planning and securing high quality green infrastructure within urban areas. Amongst other experience, we will draw the example of the Tower Hamlets Green Grid, which focusses on delivering high quality pedestrian connections alongside extensive regeneration. Attendees will be given the opportunity to explore the approaches used in such studies through this interactive session.

Speakers: Emma Luke BSc MSc MRTPI, Associate, LUC

Rosica Kolarova Bsc MA, Strategic Planning Officer at London Borough of Tower Hamlets

Study Tour One: Middlewood Locks

This tour will explore the new plans for Middlewood Locks, a major regeneration development within walking distance of Manchester City Centre which is due to start on site in late summer. The scheme is providing a mix of residential, commercial, leisure and retail uses to create a unique neighbourhood that benefits from its canal side location.

Led by: Mike Ralph MRTPI, Partner, Zerum

Paul Kelly, Chartered Surveyor, Scarborough Development Group

Ian Lawson, Regional Director, Whittam Cox Architects

Study Tour Two: Museum of Science and Industry

Delegates will explore the historic site occupied by the Museum of Science and Industry and hear about the museum's Masterplan ambitions going forward, within the context of the national Science Museum Group. The tour will illustrate how the museum utilises its listed buildings to tell the story of the industrial revolution in Manchester, whilst adhering to planning constraints. Plans for adjacent developments will also be shared, with an insight into the museum's role within the St John's Strategic Regeneration Framework.

Led by: Jacqueline Lindley MRTPI, Senior Project Manager (Master Plan), Museum of Science and Industry

3.45PM Plenary Session Three - How can we plan for the silent majority?

Physical and social environments are a key factor in producing inclusive communities. As planners, we can influence the built environment and change places for the better. This session will explore approaches that create better environments for groups within society cutting across race, age, ability and culture. It will also consider the new 'wave' of modular homes as an alternative, and more inclusive housing proposition in the UK. Planning can play a vital role in delivering improvements to health and well-being and this session should leave you with another lens in which to take development decisions.

Crash Courses – your choice of one session

Crash Course One: Urban Design Skills - SOLD OUT!

This workshop will explore the relationship between the planning system and urban design. Many plans and policies refer to ensuring that buildings respond to 'context', but understanding, responding and justifying contextually responsive design, without being swayed by personal preference can be difficult. This practical workshop will explore matters such as density, enclosure, character and scale giving delegates the opportunity to gain valuable skills including townscape analysis and exploring how to use design terminology with confidence to shape planning proposals. This workshop is designed for planners with a wide variety of backgrounds and experiences allowing delegates to engage with this subject matter at a variety of levels.

Speakers: Bob Phillips MRTPI, Director, Planner and Urban Designer, Urban Imprint

Jo Gregory MRTPI, Senior Planner and Urban Designer, Urban Imprint

Crash Course Two: An Introduction to Heritage

This session will provide an introduction to heritage for all those interested or involved in the conservation of the historic environment. It will provide an overview of the founding of building conservation and; explore the different types of designated and non-designated heritage assets together with the relevant legislation and planning policy context within which they sit. It is intended to be an open discussion and provide those attending with greater clarity on terms such as 'significance' and 'setting' within the context of the historic environment. The session will culminate with various case studies and a discussion on identifying harm.

Speakers: Jack Haw MRTPI, Senior Heritage Planner, Turley

Claire Easton MRTPI, Heritage Planner, Turley

Crash Course Three: Sustainable Housing - SOLD OUT!

Sponsored by:

This session will explore the crucial role of planning to create sufficient new sustainable housing developments for future generations. It will ask how we can speed up the house building process, while also reducing the environmental impact of development, ensuring good design and minimising resource use.

Speaker: TBC

Crash Course Four: Planning Law Update

39 Essex Chambers will provide an overview of the most recent changes in planning law relevant to industry professionals.

Speakers: Daniel Stedman Jones, Barrister, 39 Essex Chambers

Rosie Scott, Barrister, 39 Essex Chambers

Study Tour One - Liverpool Waterfront, Liverpool - SOLD OUT!

Ian Wray, who has known and worked in Liverpool for over 30 years, will lead this tour. The walk will tell the story of Liverpool's journey back from the brink... and the waterfront's extraordinary revival. Ian will take Delegates from Liverpool's new Exhibition Centre and end at Princes Dock, the starting point of Peel's Liverpool Waters project. He will reflect on history and heritage as well as regeneration, passing world famous heritage sites including the Albert Dock and the Three Graces.

Led by: Professor Ian Wray MRTPI (rtd), Visiting Fellow, Liverpool University and Author of 'Great British Plans: Who Made Them and How They Worked'

Meeting point: Liverpool ONE outside John Lewis

Study Tour Two - Welsh Streets and Granby 4 Streets, Liverpool

The tour will explore the streets of terraced housing Liverpool has now become famous for, the epicentre of the recent Turner prize winning project. Delegates will visit the Granby Workshop, and view the now occupied two-up two-down houses and consider the role the public realm and community-led design have played in this hard-won renaissance. The tour will also take delegates around the Welsh Streets which became the focus of a national debate on housing and regeneration, when a block of Victorian and 1950's built homes was threatened with demolition through the HMR Pathfinder scheme.

Led by: Tim Jago, Housing Team Leader at Liverpool City Council

Marianne Heaslip, Architect (URBED Ltd)

Study Tour Three - Liverpool ONE, Liverpool

The walk will begin above the first enclosed wet dock in the world and then follow the course of the original waterway that shaped the city centre, taking in the historic street pattern and significant events that dramatically changed Liverpool's townscape. The walk will take in the Liverpool ONE development, and its links into surrounding areas including the waterfront and the Ropewalks area.

Led by: Graham Marshall, Director, Prosocial Place

Study Tour Four - New Islington, Manchester - SOLD OUT!

The tour will be led by Chris Monkman from Urban Splash and Sangeetha Banner, a Planner and New Islington resident. The tour will explore the completed (and unfulfilled) development outcomes of recent regeneration initiatives. The tour will also discuss how the historic canal network and new public realm infrastructure create an interesting and quirky backdrop to the new spaces, buildings and streets.

Led by: Chris Monkman, Head of Land and Strategy, Urban Splash

Sangeetha Banner, Town Planner, URBED

Study Tour Five - A tour of Salford, Manchester - SOLD OUT!

This tour will take delegates around recent regeneration projects by developers Muse, covering two new residential developments Vimto Gardens and Timekeepers Square and Muse's brand new commercial development at New Bailey. The tour will take delegates along Chapel Street and over the River Irwell, which separates Manchester and Salford, to explore how Salford is accommodating new growth in unique spaces.

Led by: Phil Mayall, Development Director, Muse

Study Tour Six - Circle Square, Manchester

This tour will take delegates along the new Oxford Road corridor, a site of major recent investment to remove cars and introduce new bus and cycle infrastructure. The tour will also include a
